

Naturewise

£3647.00

Promotes Permaculture and forest gardens along with strengthening the London wide network of initiatives in sustainable urban lifestyles and environmental awareness. They are seeking funds to expand their website, produce a booklet on forest gardens in cities, build a database and promote a program of public talks, presentations and permaculture courses.

Naturewise used the TFN grant to establish a Naturewise database of affiliated individuals and organizations. It now has a working group of permaculture diploma students. This involved carrying out an accreditation process of three days over three months, in the summer of 2004. The students who had been working towards their diploma for 5 years or more were informed of the fast track accreditation process. Those who passed are now teaching on full Permaculture courses as well as giving presentations at London festivals.
